Fall 2017 Clinics and Externships

As you plan for Fall 2017, consider our renowned clinics, where you can earn academic credit while gaining lawyering experience under the supervision of full-time clinical faculty, or our externships, where you are supervised by practicing attorneys or judges committed to your professional development.

In most clinics, students take lead responsibility for representing real clients from start-to-finish under the supervision of Hastings clinical faculty, who select appropriate cases and provide support and detailed feedback. An accompanying academic course integrates training in relevant substantive law and the skills (e.g., interviewing, counseling, fact development, negotiating, etc.) in which you will engage, as well as grounded discussions that help you reflect on your fieldwork and role as lawyers.

In externships (also known as field placements), students who have completed three semesters of law school work on assignments in bustling government agencies and non-profit law offices under the supervision of attorneys who supervise and provide feedback on students' work. A linked academic course, taught by Hastings faculty, encourages you to reflect on what you are learning from your fieldwork assignments and how to work most effectively with your site supervisors.

For a complete overview of each of these courses, their prerequisites, units, and detailed descriptions, visit <http://www.uchastings.edu/academics/clinical-programs/clinics/index.php> or follow the links below. Many clinics hold mandatory information sessions, so check their webpages and watch the Weekly for announcements of the dates and times.

Five of the Clinics listed below use a Common Clinic Application (available on Canvas) and synchronize the timing of admission decisions. The priority application deadline is Friday, April 21st. Everyone applying by that deadline will be informed of their application status when priority offers will be given by Tuesday, May 9th at noon. Students will have until Wednesday, May 10th to accept an offer. To access the application, log into Canvas and from your course list, select: Common Clinic Application Fall 2017. Please note, you must join the course to be able to submit your application. For assistance, contact Ms. Theresa Hoskins-Ford, hoskinsf@uchastings.edu.

The following Clinics will be offered in Fall 2017:

IMPORTANT EXAM UPDATE from Records

Do you have the NEWEST model of the MacBook Pro?

We have received notice from ExamSoft, the company that produces SofTest, that SofTest does not block the predictive text function provided by the Touch Bar found in the newest models of the MacBook Pro.

The predictive text feature could be regarded as an unfair advantage, and the California Bar has prohibited the use of the MacBook Pro with Touch Bar for administration of the February 2017 bar exam.

ExamSoft tells us they plan to address this issue in a future update of SofTest. However, until SofTest is updated, students may not use the MacBook Pro with Touch Bar model for timed exams administered on SofTest, including midterms. Students who violate this prohibition may receive no credit for their exam and may receive an administrative F for their course.

Please note that this prohibition applies only to SofTest; exams written with a regular word processor (such as most take-home exams administered on TWEN) are unaffected. If you are unsure whether your exam will be administered by SofTest, please contact the Records Office.

Professor Freshman is looking for a research assistant to help with two articles: one on the benefits of mindfulness, and the second on mental health and law school grades. Familiarity with Blue Book rules is crucial. He is also looking for help with a book on lies, mindfulness, and negotiation, and that does not require familiar with blue book style. Professor Eumi Lee is looking for a Research Assistant!

Professor Eumi Lee is looking for a part-time research assistant for the summer and possibly next year for a few projects regarding the criminal justice system and reentry. One project would include the intersection of privacy law and criminal records. The other would involve clean slate remedies for arrest records. There may also be opportunities for discrete assignments regarding race and gender in the profession, training prosecutors, and current developments in legal ethics. Work-study eligible and coursework or experience in the criminal justice field are preferred, but not required. Applicants should electronically send a copy of their transcript and resume, along with an email describing availability over the summer and his/her interest to Professor Lee at leeeu@uchastings.edu.

Professor Marsha Cohen is looking for a Research Assistant!

Do you have some very BASIC website creation skills? If so, Professor Marsha Cohen could use your help to populate a website Lawyers for America owns. LFA has pages on the Hastings website, but wants finally to activate its dot-org page. It would just be simple: our logo, a general introduction and, for now, a lot of links to the Hastings site. Contact Professor Cohen at cohenm@uchastings.edu or 415 565 4676.
