

From: Seward, David

Sent: Friday, April 20, 2012 4:39 PM

To: Faculty and Staff ALL (including Adjuncts)

Subject: UC Hastings Today #2 - Law School Facility Benchmarking and Teaching Spaces Presentation

Dear all,

Please join us for the second event of our new series, UC Hastings Today, on Thursday, April 26, from 2:15 to 3:45 p.m. in the Classroom D of Snodgrass Hall. UC Hastings Today is a series of community get-togethers led by faculty, staff, and outside experts on various topics related to our mission, operations, and governance. This Thursday's session will feature architects David King, Thomas A. Butcavage and Juhee Cho from the Smith Group who have participated in numerous law school facility development projects including the award-winning renovation of Kane Hall in 2007.

The architects will make a presentation on Law School Facility Benchmarking comparing how UC Hastings' space allocations compare to those of our cohorts along with an overview of best practices in teaching spaces in legal education.

Future subjects are expected to include technology, fundraising and development, long-range campus planning, trends in legal education, and strategic planning updates.

We hope to see you there!

Organized by the:

Strategic Planning Implementation Committee on Campus Optimization

Long Range Campus Plan Committee

Chairs, Leo Martinez and David Seward