

Marsha S. Berzon is a graduate of Radcliffe College and the law school at the University of California at Berkeley (Boalt Hall), where she was Articles Editor of the California Law Review. She served as a law clerk to Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., of the United States Supreme Court and for Judge James R. Browning of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Judge Berzon has served as Associate General Counsel of the AFL-CIO; member of the Executive Committee of the San Francisco Bar Association Labor Law Section; member of the Board of Directors of the AFL-CIO Lawyers Coordinating Committee; and member of the Board of Directors of the Legal Aid Society of San Francisco and of the ACLU of Northern California. She is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation and has served as an Early Neutral Evaluator and mediator for the United States District Court for the Northern District of California. In the Fall of 1994, she was practitioner in residence at Cornell Law School, where she taught Supreme Court litigation; in the Fall of 1998, she was a practitioner in residence at Indiana University Law School. Judge Berzon received the Faye Stender Award from the California Women Lawyers' Association for her contribution to establishing the legal rights of women; the Alumnus of the Year award from the California Law Review; and the Jewish Committee's Learned Hand Award. Judge Berzon was confirmed as a judge of the Ninth Circuit on March 9, 2000.